GLMS Board Highlights
May 13, 2022

- The Board approved minutes from the March Board meeting.
- Dr. Valerie Briones-Pryor introduced the strategic planning team from 20/Twenty Strategic Consultants, Carl Williams and Josh Kornberg. They introduced the new GLMS Mission and Vision Statements as well as pillars and objectives to move the organization forward through June 2025. More information on each pillar will be outlined in the July issue of Louisville Medicine.
    - GLMS Vision Statement: Create a collaborative community that unites physicians.
    - GLMS Mission Statement: Greater Louisville Medical Society empowers physicians by creating engaging experiences, advancing meaningful advocacy and building impactful relationships in the community.
    - Pillar 1: People - producing educational materials and digital hub for relevant documents
    - Pillar 2: Finances - expanding MedCentral/Provider Enrollment services, expand member service area, explore dues structure, Roster sustainability
    - Pillar 3: Internal Processes - updating bylaws, evaluating partnerships with sister organizations, orientations for members/officers
    - Pillar 4: Programs and Services - interest surveys, semi-annual membership events, increase engagement through social and Louisville Medicine
- The Board voted to approve the new Strategic Plan, as presented.
- Dr. Sosnin announced that this would be the last meeting for Dr. Monalisa Tailor as Board Chair. To express appreciation, she was presented with a tiara as unofficial "Queen of the Medical Society" and a gift certificate to the Kentucky Center for Performing Arts.
- Dr. Valerie Briones-Pryor reminded the Board of the 2022 President's Celebration at Lynn Family Stadium. Dr. Briones-Pryor wanted this to be a family friendly event, and to "meet physicians where they are."
- Amanda Hall, Director of Communications & Marketing, and Onvia McDaniel, Membership Coordinator, presented a membership update. According to the bylaws, we must do the delinquent dues drop at the May Board meeting. Through efforts this year, 96 new members have joined, and 89 new members have rejoined from previous years. We will present a full membership report at the July Board meeting.
- The GLMS All-Payer Roundtable was held on May 12. There were 66 questions presented at the Q&A session and eight payers available to respond. Surveys indicated a successful event, and interest in an in-person event next year.
- GLMS is collaborating with the Louisville Bar Association on May 18 in a Medical Marijuana Forum. Dr. James Patrick Murphy will represent GLMS on the forum panel.
- Dr. Monalisa Tailor presented the Kentuckiana Health Collaborative (KHC) Equity Report and asked for the Board's input. Any questions may be asked via email or at the next meeting.

- Dr. Toni Ganzel, Dean UofL School of Medicine, shared that after the SOAP, they had a 97% Match rate, exceeding the national average. In their executive faculty meeting, they discussed their 2023 Strategic Plan and said that they are focused on LCME and student engagement and success, as well as developing curricular thread around health equity and anti-racism. They have made substantial progress in all three areas and student engagement is ranking above the national average.
- Regarding Diversity, Equity and Inclusion work, they have increased infrastructure, done training sessions, had education for search committees, held microaggression educational sessions, and other initiatives. With Community Engagement, they've increased faculty community engagement activities by 300% this year and have partnered with Humana Foundation regarding health equity. Within the Porter Scholars program, they are developing the Porters in Medicine program, with guaranteed entrance into medical school. They have hired a new Chair of the Department of Medicine, Dr. Kim Williams, preventative cardiologist. They are in the process of hiring an Orthopaedics Chair. They just launched their Kentucky Spinal Cord Injury Research initiative.
- Dr. Sarah Moyer, Director of the Louisville Metro Department of Public Health and Wellness, announced that she will be stepping down at the end of May and will start with Humana in July as CMO of Kentucky Medicaid. Dr. Jeff Howard will serve as Interim Director. Dr. Tailor thanked Dr. Moyer for the last 12 years of leadership in the community and within GLMS and presented her with a gift certificate to River House. In other public health news, COVID-19 cases are increasing again; LMDPHW data puts us in the yellow.
- Dr. Lewis Hargett thanked GLMS for their support of the National Medical Society's Region 3 Annual Meeting which was held in Louisville April 20-May 1. The meeting was well-attended and well-received from locals and those from out of town. There was a total of 10 hours of CME available.
- Bert Guinn, GMLS EVP/CEO, shared on behalf of the GLMS Foundation that they filled the last two open Board positions with Dr. Monalisa Tailor and Dr. Wayne Tuckson. Additionally, Dr. John Roberts will take over as Chair of the Foundation. There is an event on May 23 at the Kentucky Science Center with a new exhibit coming out soon called "Uniquely Human."
- Dr. John Roberts presented that the KMA reported a 3% increase in membership compared to this time last year; GLMS has 1,960 of the 3,870 members, or 51%. There was a successful legislative session, getting legislators to sign on for a lung cancer screening program, as well as a modification regarding patients having immediate access to pathology, radiology and other lab reports to a delay of 72 hours. The passing of the health care workforce bill created a $1 million fund to help relieve health care workers of student loans for relocation to rural areas, parallel to a national program. There was also a telehealth bill supported by the KMA that was passed.
- Dr. Roberts also shared that the Kentucky Foundation for Medical Care donated nearly $10,000 in April to Louisville-based non-profit SOS (formerly Supplies Overseas) to help provide a shipment of medical supplies and fortified meals to Ukraine. Dr. Gordon Tobin was an integral part of this effort, and his work is much appreciated.

- The KMA Annual Meeting will be held in person at the Louisville Marriot East August 26-28.
- Dr. Charles Oberst, Chair of the Cato Senior Physicians, shared that they have had many successful programs recently and are looking forward to their next meeting on June 14 at noon and will then take a summer break, returning in September.
